We didn't get them in an easy format... hopefully in a few hours we'll have them imported. Blazer's working on it right now.

We got all the old forum posts, in a "raw" format. Not database or HTML format, so I am having to write a program to parse all the data and output it into a manageable format. We are very lucky we were able to get the data at all, patience

Well that sounds like a lot of work. We will leave you to it. I have never really "entered" the Mod forums but it certainly had the most posts and thread so losing that data cannot be good...
