Why would you turn it off?

If you are joining from the local lan, you need to put your playername into ssc_ignore.txt

There are 500 people on RenGuard right now. New Record for this week.

Check out this:

Turn on RenGuard on your server on June 1st. Many others have already done so.

Create a empty ssc_ignore.txt file. And put your name into it.

What if others are thinking the same thing? Then by not putting rg on your own server, more people won't put it on theirs. By enabling rg on your server you're helping towards getting everyone using rg. I advise that you do put it on...
