Exactly.

If I were to give you guys the image -- I'd be from the author's website so he gets the proper credit he deserves for his excellent work.

I don't feel I'm seriously infringing any copyright laws to the point of getting in trouble by removing a portion of the image, and the author's signature. If the author has an issue with it, I can just redownload and put the image back onto my computer that way.

PS -- The big fireball is the swollen sun Check the small planet on the left -- Has lights on it, aka, its a scorched Earth.

1. The game was pretti cheap
2. I heard it gets boring after while

But I will still send them an email about this.
