Alas, Even the most retarded people in the world, such as Iggins, agree on this one, uniting point.

That was a lot of fun. :rolleyes:

Beanyhead spearheaded much of the Hell Yeah script movement before all that. I owe my piece to him!

1. We've yet to see ANY patch on Reborn, none whatsoever.
2. OK... and?
3. Reborn sure has high tech, but an extremely crappy way of showing it. Anybody remember the Devil's Tongue?
4. Read the forums; they in fact are developing Single Player missions for RenAlert.

It's been half a year since Reborn was released. In that half of a year, not even a single patch to fix the numerous bugs in it has been given to the public.

If you wish to compare this to RenAlert, there has been THREE patches for RenAlert, the latest two attracting the large fanbase they have now. And I must mention that the next patch, .993, will feature MAD Tanks, Demolition Trucks, Mine Layers, AND Naval combat, plus six new maps for players to enjoy.

I honestly doubt Reborn can kick even its own ass.

Oh how very adult of you Mr Holmes.

You give BHS, and Renalert's Development team a bad name, but it appears they don't care as consented to by Crimson's not locking this idiotic and unprovoked attack.

You have a lot of growing to do intellectually.

Umbral_DelaFlare
plus six new maps for players to enjoy.

Actually, it will have over 10 new levels, plus the current 5(some of them redone too). And if you count the levels that have different modes that adds even more. There will be near 20 in total.
