I looked in my add remove programs to see that renguard was installed twice, so I removed them both and attempted to re-install.

Now I accept the agreement and when it starts to install it says renguard must be installed to the renegade directory, although it is trying to install it to westwood/renegade(my directory). It then quits...

Its being an ass...

help!

well i dont know if it matters it should be westwood/renegade/data not westwood/renegade cuz then it isn't scanning your data directory for cheats

Actually it scans the main directory under Westwood/Renegade, which is Westwood/Renegade/Data ok... I re-installed renegade and it works now... I dont want to have to do that again... you install it to westwood/renegade, not data

There is better ways to catch attention than that, you know?
But your way seems to work because you got my attention.

How do you feel now?
It's nice to be always on the spotlight, isn't it?

You were always a dumbass. Blindly worshipping Reborn for like eight months even when they spit in your face when they lied to everyone over and over.

You're not very bright, hence why you're a dumbass.

Sure you do. You care about Reborn and that's it, you never participate anywhere else. The only thing you ever talk about is "how much rebarn pwnz" like the little idiot you are.

yeah whatever, you see, all you ever think about is yourself and renalert. Ive seen you flame 3 other mods, 1 of which was an alpha made by amateurs. You dont give a damn if they have made something new and theyre proud of it, all you can say is it sucks we own...

Your older but you have the maturity level of a 12 year old.

again take your insults elsewhere, nobodys bothered

This is my last post on this matter, ACK can grow up, someone close this please.
