Hey guys,
Swami here from Swami's Flying Circus. Lately my server has been lag city with only just a few players. I've been monitoring bandwidth, connections and I can't find anything really out of the ordinary. You guys know of anything that might help out? It's hosted on a T-1 line and it used to be really lag free, but now it's pretty bad.

TIA,
Swami

Open up command prompt Startmenu > run : cmd [enter]
In the command console type:

netstat -an

This will show all of your network connections etc. See if you find anything suspicious. If there are alot of entries here it is mostlikely that you have a virus.

Get a free virus software package at www.Free-AV.com.

Also check with `ctrl+alt+del` what programs are running in background.
Terminate the ones you are sure of that dont need to be there.

net stat is terrible network analyzer, get network spy 2.0 for windows it will show you all the traffic that is going on through your nick.
