This thread was locked before I had the chance to see and respond to this comment. I personally think it's unbridled comedy.

"but apparently you can't seem to see that people who show up and can actually refrain from being a Grade A asshole are usually unbanned or let back into the server after they explain themselves or agree to do their time..."

:rolleyes:

Your memory's pretty vague, isn't it? If you actually take the time to check the threads I posted in the pits forum (The "I don't cheat, artillery is actually rather powerful if you use it well" threads) you'll see that I was actually level-headed and reasonable throughout, and YOU acted like a petulant child from post one, and gradually seemed to get more and more indignant with each post, despite the fact I wasn't actually responding to your childish and baseless flaming. I find it rather ironic you'd interpret the threads with the comment you made above... when I clearly acted about five gazillion times more maturely than you cared to. Oh well, I guess reality's lost on you. I also guess moderators need not follow the "don't be an ass" rule you're so keen to cite.
