I don't know what caused the problem, but it happened to myself as well once yesterday, or the day prior. The only thing I'd be able to suggest is to keep trying. I eventually was able to connect the second try, but it might take longer.

Usually just clicking "Abort" when I first see that screen and retrying works for me.

It happens to me... As soon as the first thing pops up, I click Cancel, then connect again, it says a different thing and connects. It takes like 20 seconds. No worries.

What will it take for everyone to realize that GSA > WOL :rolleyes:

GSA is never down while half the time I try to log into WOL it gives me that same problem

GSA sucks.
You gotta QUIT the game to join an other server LOL.
Thats just gay.

You cant have a quick look at the startup screen to see who are in the server before actually joining it.

You cant "time" your join so that you end up on your m8s team.

There is no ladder.

Doing clanwars on GSA is pretty dumb as there is no Worldwide CLan-Ladder.

The long names are a pain when people start using special characters.

90% of the GSA players are n00bs who just join a server quickly and piss around doing stupid things.

8% of the GSA players a newbies who dont get what they have to do to win a game.

1.75% of GSA players are actually good players and are worth playing with.

.25% of GSA players are considered to be 1337.

On the other side there are the WOL players who have been raised for battle using Teamwork, Coordination and Sacrifice. LOL!

No way dude, Its WOL all the way, GSA is just a emergency backup-option, better play on GaySpy than not play at all..
