The Longbow is the only aircraft the Allies have available to them. Supplied to the Allies by the Boeing Corporation, and authorized by the United States Congress and the Lend-Lease act, the Longbow provides excellent fire support for other US supplied Allied ground forces.

Used in tandem, these helicopters not only take a big beating - they also deal one out, too. Use them in wolfpacks of three to four Longbows and take down enemy Ore Trucks, Mammoth Tanks, and Tesla Coils.

The two 1024x texture maps were done by myself, and the model was done by Sir Phoenixx.

Official WS rendering:

Nice Texture work , The detailing is excellent. I can't think of one thing bad to say about this except that big metal "bubble" above the rotors. It just looks odd.

The longbow radar on top doesn't look right, it should be a bit slimmer and somewhat wider.

<http://w1.111.telia.com/~u11108365/longbow.jpg>

Like that.

Other than that it's a very good model, and I'm glad the fugly Apache Longbow model is being replaced, nicely done.

Oh and in the WS render, notice how those aren't lonbows, but just normal Apaches? Oh and also the Tesla coil seems to be shooting at the other one, the other Apache that is. O__o; anyway, nicely done.

Looks good but i think you may need to resize the textures down to 512x512 for performace sake.

And if we went by "better" in your opinion we'd be no better off than reborn.

As for the radar ontop, I'm sure Sir Phoenixx can answer that, he'll be around sooner or later

I was a little doubtful at first when I saw the first half of the Apache on IRC, but this whole texture looks really good, although it sort of has an airbrushed look on some parts of the main hull.

By the way, who cares how big the radar dome thing is? It looks fine, there's no reason to go back and change it and waste maybe 20 minutes. You're getting a little bogged down in the details if that really matters so much.

There's two choices... Either you have absolutely no clue what you're talking about (Like usual.) and have never seen what the old one looked like, or the only purpose of that statement was to attack RenAlert and to cause a "flame" war in this thread.

The old one was the Renegade Nod Apache slightly modified, it's completely horrendous, almost every detail on the Apache/Longbow, that model got wrong/missed. The texture it had was even worse.

Because everyone knows that members of the RenAlert team would never do such a thing

No, the members wouldn't.

Which doesn't matter, because Renardin is the fool attacking us/Renalert (just as much as we attack him/Reborn) even though he constantly says he wants "peace". We don't attack Reborn while going on about how we want the attacking to end.

That's the old longbow.

Can you take a screenshot of that Longbow on the highest quality possible if it isn't already? I'll like to have a look at the contrast.

You obviously didn't try to understand his post.

1. He was saying that not all the members of the RenAlert team flame Reborn/Renardin. He never said he didn't.
2. He's not trying to end the flame war.

3. cncreborn.com link is for RenAlert, so technically, he's only giving a redirect url.

A misleading one. The url makes think it's Reborn, but it actually goes to RenAlert.

Now, I should I register renegadealert.org and make it redirect to Commando?
But I'm not cheap.

Well didn't noticed how bad the old model was. sorry. I admit now, the new one is better but I am curious to see a darkblade version of your model.

I wasn't attacking. It's just I don't play often your mod. Sorry.

I don't want to bash you or anything else.

It's a modified version of the original Renegade Apache model.

That would be pointless, <http://www.cncreborn.com> actually looks like a real url to their site, (which is almost the same url, but with .de on the end), <http://www.renegadealert.org> doesn't.

How is linking to the Renegade Alert site with "The best mod ever!" attacking Reborn?
