I don't think he's laughing at the fact that they died. What is supposed to be found humorous was how they did.

majikentI don't think he's laughing at the fact that they died. What is supposed to be found humorous was how they did. Exactly my point. Nobody should laugh just because someone dies.

As majikent mentioned, it's how they died that i found funny.

Personally, people dieing is funny. you're living and they aren't, but that's me. I had a sick and twisted childhood. like the time that kennedy died, I laughed for weeks. I also burned things that crawled, like ants, caterpillars, moths, etc. :twisted: :twisted:

If you end up dying a horrible death then you'll find that real death is not funny.

I hate how some people are so careless.

Can't we ban him for being the owner of the ebaumsworld website.

Ontopic:

It's funny that there are people who are willing to riks there health for something like $150. The fact that they died, is bad. But I have to be honest. The people died in a country where I have no connection with what so ever. With al the death reports, I tend not to feel anything bad for people that die in another world.
