Got any quality pictures? Post em' here!

Me first...

Taken with my newest Sony digital camera, very handy.

It was a rainy day, I thought it would be perfect to take some pictures, most of em' were blurry, but some of them were actually really nice, I'm probably going to edit this one since the current background kind of... Sucks...

That was in my backyard, by the way.

Here's another one, it was taken this summer in a plane in direction of Florida, probably over the Great Lakes...

I just loved the scenary, what sucked tho, is just had access to our old digital camera... Which means: low quality pictures.

Views out of a plane are very nice. Once I got to see the sunset while in Business class, oh man it rocked. And later on the same trip I saw a storm. It was awesome.

Where the hell is that at? I don't remember seeing that statue around town, so I'm guessing it isn't in town.

i dont do much, but i will be doing lots during the holidays (2 days away) so yeah, i live inner city, kind of. in the 'burbs so most of the pics i will be taking will be from parks or even the city its self.

^^ At a game of AFL football (<http://afl.com.au/>) i like the sky.

^^ Another one of the same match after the game where everyone goes on the ground and plays. this is one of the smaller ground, can only hold about 20,000 people, the main one can hold 120,000...

^^ The sky taken from my Drive way, ignore the cables, there form hte trams that run outside.[/url]
