We recently started the Cugs Dominance Clan, comprised of all the regulars who play at cugsworld. We're just starting out, but have a lot of players, so any big clans out there want to give us a go, just ask! We're online almost every night so we're available for big games like every night.

jeez guys, give us a break,
on behalf of Cugs Dominance

That was our first clan match, and we were never told by anyone to leave or even out the teams.

They let us have that many players because they knew we sucked anyway.... We're getting better though, maybe some rematches someday.....
Oh and we never 'forced' them to go to cugsworld clan server, we tried it and it sucked, so we went to a neutral renguard protected server.

Looking forward to more matches in the future!

The clan you were playing isn't anything to do with me or Ice.

Will enough of your clan be on tonight? (Night meaning US time)

Your clan should start getting into clan wars. If you have that many members on at a time, you would definitely get some action. If you do decide to start clanning you're going to get owned alot , but you will get alot better over time.
