I went to ollies, they have incredible deals on computer books, i've gotten an 80 dollar book for 5 there.

The ones i've used to learn code is by <http://www.beginningdotnet.com> , they don't just throw you into some technical shit they walk you through step by step.

I'm just going to pay $300 and have someone teach me it. That way, it'll make college somewhat desirable to go to...now if only I had thought of that THIS semester.
