What is the purpose of this thread ?

Simple, you want to argue about one of those 2 mods. DO IT HERE.

All bashing and fights are welcome. One rule : try to let MOD forum a nice place.

So now, you can all do your stupid war without me.

You tell me that when someone attacks you. When you attack them back, I'll point you back to this thread and make sure you know you're being a hypocrite. Why? Because when someone trashes my work, and does everything they can to try to get people to hate us, I will respond somehow. If you wouldn't, then you don't have much concept of ownership on the Internet.

Quote:In other words : You feel insulted by a text on a forum about a game... Oh poor you... Maybe you should take things less seriously and laugh with us...

It's an analogy, dumbass... Comparing the action of Reborn starting this little "Internet war" to someone coming up who punches you to take your money.

In both situations I defend myself, because only a fool like you lets themselves get pushed around. I don't even know why you're bothering to make a comment like "you feel insulted by test on a forum" because I've seen your dumb self get worked up to the extreme of trying to take our domain names, along with the countless arguments you've gotten into while preaching peace at the same time. so true... But ack with his will to have a payback on the old reborn team became an ass with me... I was for peace, he became a shit with me... It's only his fault. I wasn't in Reborn team when the shit started... He doesn't understand that. The only members that are from old team are DarkOmen (who don't lose time with this shit) and Kalle Bowo. Kalle Bowo that ack tried to recruit and told him how much talent he has... So on the back, Ack loves Reborn. He try to get our members... He thinks that I don't know how he got that screenie about the thread with aod... I know sanada gave it to you... He told me he did and didn't liked what you did... Kalle has talent that he's wasting on Reborn. You on the other hand lack talent and substitute it with bullshitting. I do not care when you joined, what matters is that you're part of a team that does not care about this community but only cares about doing whatever it takes to get people to kiss their ass.

You don't know anything about me, Retardin. You don't even know my name isn't "ack," for starters...

Geez, what is this, with two mods facing off against each other? For those of you who can't yet fully grasp it, THIS IS RETARDED.

Modding isn't about being better than someone else. It's about producing something fun that you can share with others. Any of this taking sides nonsense should stop right now, and you should all feel ashamed.

This is the reason the community is going to hell. You all need to grow up. Especially ACK.

If you see something that you don't like, you shouldn't feel constrained about voicing your thoughts, but the modding community at large doesn't need this.

[By the way, ACK, if you think Reborn is a bad mod, you apparently haven't actually seen a bad mod.]

In your opinion, don't pass that off as fact. Some people go into it for different reasons. I figure as a liberal you'd have known this but apparently you're not as open minded as you'd like people to believe.

Quote:the kind you'd understand if you passed the 12th grade

That's REAL ORIGINAL BUDDY! I have to hand it to you, you beat me there! I'm having a hard time composing myself through all the crying I've been through because of an idiot on the Internet who somehow correlates a sense of humor with passing the senior year in high school for any reason!

I don't know why I keep saying this but I dropped out because I hated the school I was at and I couldn't stand the mindless drone behavior of people there, along with the various idiots who plagued the populace of the school system and undoubtly still do.

Yet, amazingly enough, for dropping out I happen to be able to do a great many things that you don't seem to be capable of. Making sense, for one. Writing in legible English, for the second point. Third? I'm not an idiot, but you happen to be one. A high school diploma means nothing in the real world anyway, as experience shows. Employment depends on your skill set and abilities, not "well I made it through high school" - that doesn't guarantee intelligence or ability to work.

Yes, but on average, high school drop outs make either 42 or 24% less money then graduates. Of course, some people are very succesful with out degrees. But that's a very small percentage.

The only reason they make less money is because they're inept.
