Howdy. I'm back... well, sort of, for those that remember me. I have a bit of free time on my hands every now and then and I had the sudden urge to want to play Ren again. Probably won't be playing all the time but maybe a few games here and there. So anyone care to fill me in on anything noteworthy that happened in the past couple months and/or inform me on who is still actively playing that I might know?

yeah, I haven't been here in awhile either, good that it is still up.

I got one question too, has CnC Ammo bitten the dust or something, all my old favorite links to it won't work.

RenAlert version 0.993b came out in late July. <http://www.renalert.com>
It kicks the ass of just about any other Renegade TC.

Heyo there Aspenth...

Ya CnC Ammo died about 5 months ago now. I was working for them after the gamespy hosting let up. The new webmaster was some guy named Seal he was doing a good job then one night the site dissappeared. I found out we got hacked or something. Then it sat dormat for quite some time. Then things started to come back but shortly afterwards it dropped completely off the radar. Quite sad that site had a legacy...

Xptek got banned and came back again but under God's (Crimson's) willing grace.

A n00b named sw33t got banned and he is ban evading as Alostsoul (I think). So any post by him just disregard as trash.

---

Erm... what else...

NeoX got named official forum ass monkey.

SuperFlyingEngi was brain washed by liberal America.

j_ball430 had his account hacked by EAX on this forum and that is currently being worked out.

Now that would depend who you're talking to.

Yes, I did for quite some time. But then I came to the realization that I was paying $60 a year for the server and I was only using it to upload my own pictures that I could just upload to ImageDump or some other free site. So I cancelled the account just like a week ago...

Thanks for the welcome all, hopefully I'll get to play a few games with some of you once I figure out who all still plays. Should probably ask while it is on my mind... what are the most popular servers nowadays? Is there a particular one that most of the community people here play on?

I started my mod for Renegade and 6 months later I decided to move it to Half-Life 2's source engine.

Of n00bs, bad webmastering, bad community management and a horrible forum community. In addition to shit poor content.

In its "quest for teh most skinzorz" they added anything and everything. To find a quality texture map took more than an hour because of the sheer amount of shit they had on the site.

Don't know know ya but welcome.

Fine, it's a texture map. If I want to call it a skin because the character looks human that's my prerogative, also "SKIN" is easier to type than "TEXTURE MAP" and everybody knows what you're talking about. Stop being a bitch about everything. :rolleyes:

Sorry I hijacked the thread, that's been grinding on me for a while.

Stupid script kiddies. I still need to figure out where they live, so I can pay them a visit. I had 1336 posts before their bullshit.
