Ok I didn't know, but still when you want to translate a language, you first have to know in what language the source was written. And dutch and german are just as different as french and spanish.

Edit: I still want to know, why you responded to him with a lol. I don't take you very seriously.

They're both derivative of Bavarian, same with Polish, Austrian, Bulgarian and even Flemish to an extent.

True, but that doesn't mean I can speak Polisch, or even see the difference between Bulgarian and Polish writing.

Ontopic: The way you speak isn't really making me feel sorry for you. Sure the guy is an ass for saying something like that. Basicly your goal to make the other guy look like an ass has failed miserably.

Specially since it seems you abuse something, as bad as the death of someone in your family, to make someone else look bad.

Also If you really do have problems with this, I wish you please say it in a normal grownup way. And if you are not able to express yourself normaly in Englisch, Post it in dutch, I will translate.

He'd already mentioned German and Dutch, and English doesn't count since it's a Creole Language, there's at least Viking, Gaul, Germanic and Latin influences to the language, hence why it's a mess.

English is a Germanic language, no matter how you look at it.

When language was in it's early stages, the West Germanic Dialect was broken into two dialects, High German and Low German. High German is where today's modern German comes from, and Low German is where Dutch and English come from.
