Do rebind the recording button of FRAPS to something else than F9, which is the quickload in Doom.....I just noticed I was getting unexplainably low in disk space, so I searched around for the problem and noticed I had taken over 9 Gigabytes of Doom 3 video footage.....eugh.

Sir PhoenixxCan't you change the quicksave button?

That's what he's telling us to do.

No, he isn't. If you would actually read what he wrote, he's asking for someone to take Fraps and change the record key.

I hope you know you can make the game show your FPS, instead of using Fraps.

icedog90I hope you know you can make the game show your FPS, instead of using Fraps.

Yeah I do, but I have Fraps always running in the background, the other features it has aren't found in most games.
