I had an idea today while cleaning my room. It includes the RenAlert Dev team and Reborn team, why not have the RenAlert team model an upcoming Reborn model completed with a texture and likewise for Reborn. Then give each team a limited amount of time to complete the project. This is just a suggestion that i thought would be cool, maybe giving each team an appreciation of each others "work". Of course this is just a suggestion and no one can force anyone to do it so.....

I'd rather not have them make anything for us for the sole reason that whatever they make ends up looking like shit.

I'm not saying that you should end up using it in your mod(s) but just as .... i don't know.... "just a thought"

That's an statement in err. Reborn is known as crap because the fact that it is Reborn.

Reborn sucks because it is Reborn[/oversimplify] GREAT argument there ACK.

My name isn't ack, and it's not oversimplification. Reborn has been Reborn's problem since Reborn was created. All the bug reports, 30+ team members that come and go, and huge problems with graphics\gameplay\installation confirm that.

Yes, I must admit the biggest problem with Reborn is the Textures and the Installation (the reborn game starter doesn't work...)

But, Aircraftkiller, this is why it is not done yet. I think that both mods, however good or bad, are both great. I support both mods. I hope my clan will too.

Doesn't matter if it isn't done or not. They promised everything would work and that it would "be perfect unlike taht ranalart buggy ting" several times.

Even beta software is supposed to function!

We don't all argue continuously, you just have to contact the right people for what you are looking for. There are many people here willing to hand out a helpful hand.

Besides that, you get crap for replies here...

AircraftkillerYou mean like your replies?

I attack you because you give a little advice, then you are right back to your old self. I personally tried to not post anything against you, but it's always the same BS. I could look back in many Reborn started topics and mostly see in your posts "concrete" and "plastic". Atleast you got rid of the habit of using "hypocrite" in every post making the forum more of a dictionary rather than a public modding show/help forum. I'm sure many would agree because all of what I just said is all true...

What business is it of yours how I treat people that have nothing to do with you? If you want to play Moral Crusader I'll follow you around and start beating on you whenever you do something I don't like. The fact is that it doesn't concern you and you shouldn't be butting into this.

You totally ignore the fucking reason why I hate Reborn. If I hate something I AM NOT GOING TO WANT TO HELP IT. Is that so difficult to comprehend? If someone lies to me (and this community), deceives me, and pretends nothing is wrong I WILL DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT even if it's only limited to bashing the fuck out of them in every available opportunity.

If they want to get an appreciation for the mods work, all they have to do is look at a screenshot. The only thing that this idea would do is cause even more "friction".

I wasn't exactly talking about the idea, just the fact you don't like Reborn in a sarcastic way. Yes it was wrong, but like I said, I'm sick of seeing the "Reborn sucks" thing. I don't care what you post about my work. You never liked me from the beginning. Perhaps if my "box" level had more of advice to make a better one instead of "OMFG! THE BOX IS MAKING MY HEAD HURT!" comments, then you wouldn't get these posts. SK says you are a nice person, but I NEVER see it. Please explain why you are so into yourself and the "me me me" attitude. You should be thankful all I do is post bad about you since you tried to get me banned from servers to make them think I cheat (eventhough you have cheated on many servers - especially BC servers. Kind of funny when you say Reborn members act childish when you are doing childish things yourself).

Question, how come it shows "Moved" next to the topic name instead of completely removing it from the Mod Forum and into the Politics/Hot Issues forum?

I think it does that because of how the board is programmed...

When a topic is moved, we moderators have the option of leaving a shadow topic in the old forum.

Usually, when it's a topic that is being moved from a public-viewable forum to a public-viewable forum a shadow is left to show that it has been moved. Other times, when we move something to the Silo, no shadow is left as the topic can no longer be accessed.

I didnt think reborn was too bad, never played it much, only bout 1 hour. It was buggy where people could repair stuff underground and there were some other minor problems, but all around its not so bad that it made me mad playing it. At least they tried to bring a Tiberian Sun mod to the table for the community. As for Renalert, it was good for the first 1 hour of playing it once again, but then i just went backt o the original Renegade. renalert was much less buggier, and less sniper oriented. I was surprised when i thought i had a Heli and the sniper rifle does nothing to it. I got mowed down like a front lawn lol

Anyway, i appreciate BOTH mods, the creators even if they do fight all the time are great modders.
