I'm currently working on a series of maps which start with DM. DMCenter was the beginning. I figure I might as well take the Westwood legacy on and design maps based on the original DMCenter design. The new one is called DMPower. It features the GDI Advanced Power Plant I designed from the original Power Plant. The map is highly detailed and also includes tunnels I added to it along with a cave that a tiberium meteor slammed into.

Also, C&C Beach will be up on www.cncden.com today sometime, I believe. I've been working on it off and on for almost two and a half months.

I like the map idea. Not to  at you but, there seems to be alot of instances where i have seen people describe their maps where "a cave where a meteor has smashed through". But mine, the meteor didnt get through, it hangs on the ceiling. and their is a garden of tib crystals on the ceiling.The hole from where your meteor crashed through, you should put some tiberium residue on it.Good work ACK.

They don't leave residue until they impact because of the extremely high temperatures which destroy the residue which occurs at the first impact. Crashing into a cave would make it impact and lose its outer rock shell, which leaves the tiberium to grow and spread inside the cave.

Yeah, thanks. It took almost two and a half months to design the terrain and everything I wanted in it.
