We were playing a 3v3 clanner on GDI-GT's renguard server (not against GDI-GT). Near the start of the game we see this

Is this what Renguard actually says when a player has something in his data folder which shouldn't be there?

The reason I ask is because GDI-GT kinda have a habit of kicking people when they're losing clan games, and it occurred to me this might've just been a joke by server admin.

You can't fake these kind of kicks, unless you join the server called RenGuard and kick the player then. But I don't see anyone called RenGuard there. This really was RG kicking someone for putting files in his dir. I think you could ask someone from BHS who has access to the logs what files he was kicked for.
