For some random reason I keep getting an invalid password error for my WOL account... I think one of my friends attempted to log onto it and made it save the wrong password, because every time I log on it keeps using and shading the same password and not letting me edit it. My question is if there is a way to make WOL "forget" the password so I can enter the correct one?

click "delete account", don't worry that doesn't delete your account, it just deletes your PC's automatic retention of its password
