Well its been a rough few weeks setting up the outline of what our mod is going to be but once we get threw it all, suddenly our webpage is gone. I'm guessing our host cut us off. The reason, i have no idea. Is there any way i can host it from my own computer for free or can someone else host it for free i only need about 50 to 100 mb's for now. This has entirely pissed me off. To anyone who helps, Thank You.

I don't recommend Apache for hosting off a home computer... get abyss <http://www.aprelium.com>

I have had 0 downtime due to failure of the server and it doesn't use more than 2 megabytes of RAM at a time for me.

If you need any help Private Message me.

You can try Planet CnC, you can get a MySQL/PHP/etc. server, and as much space as you need for the site, and you can use fileplanet for any downloads. I think you just need a site to temporarily host it first so they can see it.
