Kk i think lots of you might reconize me, i used to be Bobodude that huge noob. Now i am vicson88 and would like to share this with you. Now i am much better at making siggys and GFX and have got together with a few friends to start a little community. http://www.digitaldiversity.tk. Please check it out and sign up if you want. To see some of my work http://s7.invisionfree.com/Digital_Diversity/index.php?showtopic=10 I am quite good and have some other people. If want to join and become a graphic artist you may. Ummm even if you think my forum is gay or something... please dont bitch at me anymore. I am trying my best not to be a n00b anymore!!!

I must agree with him. Digital Depiction's Apocalyptic Media is where you want to go.

Edit: You ARE getting better, but I would not near go as far as saying that we can get "great" siggys there. Those are FAR from great. They are somewhere between newbish and fair.

Their okay, I remember that grid effect, kinda over used and it's too solid, like you can't see through the lines, it looks like you went into paint with the picture and used lines. Your getting better, but I'm pretty sure I could make those with GIMP. Anyone know where to get some filters or plug-ins for it?

I was just about to say the same, He has jsut taken digital depiction and changed it slightly.

For this joyous occasion of a cough "great" new imaging website....

If I see that placed anywhere else, I reserve the right to get stabby, trust me. You even dare to use even PART of that image...

Oh and one more thing, a "vortex effect" really isn't hard, get and image, filter>distort>twirl then rotate it for each frame, peice of piss.

Vicson88 learned about how hotlinking is a bad thing from Digital Depiction. He hotlinked DarkDemin's signature for xptek (Scamp) and so Ty decided to make it goatse instead.

You really need to try different things dude, those are all the same style, and they all look the same. THe 3rd one is okay besides for the text just becasue its orignial but nothing i'd go bragging about. The others are well ya, i won't get into them

Jesus, get a clue,

Congrats, you sir are an idiot.

apocmedia.com does not take long at all to load enless your ISP is the biggest peice of crap ever. Digitaldepiction.net does not either, and Apoc's sigs for the most part (ecpessially mine) are not cut and paste and text, you stupid n00b.

Go back to the hole you've been hiding in for the past few months you troll.
