Uhh... I really do question why you bother posting here at all. The argument isn't "still... hes releasing them" it's "No one will use them, and only like two of those scripts are of any use to anyone that might ever use them."

And I wrote "dhem" to mock your inability to spell simple words. Retard...

I deleted your post when I'm not a moderator? YSLMuffins did that, you fool.

As for the President, I doubt some teenage kid is going to be more intelligent than someone who is the President of the United States, Commander in Chief of the US Armed Forces, and not only graduated from Yale with a MBA... He was also a F-102 Delta Dagger fighter pilot and served in the military.

I'd say he's a lot more intelligent than you or I probably ever will be.

People "hear" lots of things but that doesn't make it true, now does it? I heard you're a purple monkey dishwasher, but that doesn't make you one simply because I heard so.

AircraftkillerI heard you're a purple monkey dishwasher

How did you know that... :shocked:

There are many things no one will ever know for sure, but 1 thing is a fact... He sure loves to make war... :rolleyes:

That isn't a fact. If he had "loved" to make war, as you put it, he wouldn't have waited to attack Afganistan and Iraq until after we were attacked. We gave peace a try, we got 9/11.

People act as if Bush is an Emperor rather than a president. It takes more than a president to wage war.

Seriously when I played it, I wasn't like: "Dude, this sucks ass from a straw on a Saturday in Saugatuck", I was more like, meh, I'm going back to renegade. The Jumpjets in it were fun though. And Renalert wasn't bad either. I hated it when I got my sniper rifle and got mowed down by the damn helis thinking I could bring them down, but hell. That's life. And then I was like, meh, I'm going back to renegade.
