As odd as that sounds, its brilliant!

Nobody advertises on their foreheads. When people see it, they will ask him what the hell it is and he will tell them. What better way to attract attention?

And to think he got 37 grand out of it?

Genius.

some of those people are only doing it for $10, thats just stupid lol. any, i think its lost its novelty now. I would hate to see the world full of people with advertisements on their head. The last thing i would want, is to come home one day and find my girlfriend with a depends advertisement on her head lol .
