It seems with CP1 you can add or change console commands, F8 - stuff.

How about removing SE / sbbo? Unless someone can suggest a productive function for it.

Why remove them? Nobody forces you to use them.

I've found the sbbo command helpful to reduce lag on some servers (if bandtest.dll does not properly detect your connection speed, your sbbo defaults to too low a value). But perhaps something could be done to prevent people from entering the sbbo values that allow them to lag-snipe.

I find it amusing that people can be so desperate to cheat that they would play the game in lag mode just to get some extra kills. Really pathetic.

sigh... let me explain...

SE and sbbo are commands which some people exploit to give themselves lots of lag kills.

But, hey, why dislike cheats? Nobody's forcing me to use them :rolleyes:

idiot.
