Now if only we could get some people to act as smart as this bird

Smile for the day -

ROFL

Birds are awesome. I used to have a small parrot...He would always go in my mum's handbag because there were sweets in there sometimes. Once he took the car keys and kept locking/unlocking the car!

Birds are great. They're so smart.

African greys are the smartest of parrots. I got a friend who has had one for over 6 years and it has learned over 200 words. I used to swear alot around it, and it ended up learning how to say Fuck you. Buddies parents were never happy about it, and till this day it still says it randomly. These birds can live up to 80 years, so just imagine if you had one your entire life.

This is impressive, but I've seen better, lol. This one bird I've seen on TV can actually communicate with a person and ask if it can go in the cage. It can also count keys and other things.
