Here's the link to the page with all of the phone #'s / emails of Celebrities on her cell phone.

Quite funny

Quote:i called avril lavignes cell earlier and told her how much i loved her metamorphosis album and she hungup. sometimes her and hilary duff are so easy to confuse.

However I do not advise people to call these numbes --but if you do call these numbers and have some fun you are doing it at your own discretion

BTW most of these people changed their number by now.

This happened like 24 hours ago...More even

So most people disconnected their phones or changed the numbers.

Victoria Gotti said that she turned her phone on for an hour and recieved 100's of phonecalls.

I don't understand why people would be so lame as to simply bother people like this. Ok, so they're famous...Its not like they will talk to you or know who you are...

As of Tuesday morning, there were a few people who were not able to change their numbers, one of them being Eminem.

I dont get it, why hack her personal information? Do people love to terrorize celebrities because they know their low-lives and never will amount to near as much as a celeb? If they catch this guy, i wouldnt mind locking him away, it would teach him right to invade someones privacy.

People are facinated with the lives of celebrities. Every little drop of gossip that can be squeezed out of an incident will be squeezed until it is so dry that it turns into dust. Not to mention it's fun to rain in on celebrities to show that they're not too high up on the pedestal to take a hit. It's moreso hilarious that this happened than interesting. It's just funny that it happened to Paris because it seems that she can't keep anything to herself anymore.

The guy has been caught. He was caught before Tuesday... to my knowledge.

In fact he admitted to it and turned himself in. Probably the only smart thing he has done in this whole fiasco.

I disagree.

EDIT: That's stupid, why would he turn himself in...

Because they'd probably catch him anyway... And if he gets with anything, the ramifications will be less.

With 256/256 DSL, depending on the server, it can take a good 30 seconds of concentrated bandwidth to download that. Don't figure that we're all cable users. >_>

And about the Paris Hilton thing: Why the heck would she have all of these celebrities' info on her phone? It's not like she freaking calls up Eminem for a chat every few days.

Or anyone else for that matter...
