Another person has accepted my proposal, and has made prompt work of Umagon for his portfolio, as he searches for a job in the industry, Say hello to Umagon. Ghostalker coming soon!

Everything seen below, is work of Ray Pinit. Resources and such were provided by me.

Concept:

Model: (By request of Renardin, we fitted her with long pants instead, as the plot of most Reborn maps are in harsh and unwelcoming environments.)

In the second image the neck doesn't look like it's connected to the body, they either need to be given correct smoothing groups to match the body, or connected to the body with correct smoothing groups.

The vest and the arm pad/straps need to be extruded and made to actually look like they're on her, instead of part of her skin. Also, the arm pad takes up too much space on the arm, and in the drawing it looks like it's supposed to be some gun holster.

It looks alright, it just needs more work.

You rant on about wanting constructive criticism for your teams work, you even went and shut down the APB modification updates thread for a while because a lot of people pissed you off for doing exactly what you're doing right now, once again why not practice what you preach even though this isn't the APB forum, no reason why you can't be civil for once.

Overall the model looks good, however I think there should more detail added to the face and hair, other than that, looking good.

Lol, I just noticed something else... In the drawing the two diamond shaped tiberium crystals on her forehead are attached to a pendant on a string that is wrapped around her hair, and is hanging there. This is missing from the model, with just the two crystals hanging out of her forehead.

Yea, also, her ass doesn't look as cute as it does in the render.
I mean, come on, if you are going to be in 3rd person mode, you got to have a reason to buy that model

And also, the arm band things, in the render it appears that it is like made of 3 segment/parts. But in the Model, it only appears as one big thing.

In all fairness, the low half of the model (apart from the arse) appears to be good stuff, I just think that the top half needs to be revised.

What he ought to say is "Damn, I wish Renalert had a character modeler." But since he'd rather divert the attention towards the ever-so-cliche Reborn bashing, he'll just have to make due with random and unsupported dissent.

I think she looks pretty good, but her skin reeks of cheap tanning salon, and her neck is definitely not properly connected to her torso. Also, the lines on her face make her look old. Last but not least, is that wood on her boots? Lol. And her hair looks like lego hair, because of the way it's modeled. It's like a huge afro that defies the laws of gravity, eerily suspending itself away from her back and neck.

j_ball430For the "it's better than you can do" comment, it's way overplayed and pointless. So what if he couldn't do it? Does that automatically mean he isn't entitled to his opinion? If a company came out with a shitty game, and just because we don't have the skills to do any better does it automatically mean that it's acceptable? Let me ask you this, would you want to drive a car where the workers/machines only were made to do a half-assed job where the bolts weren't tight, welds weren't strong, and the seals weren't sealed correctly?

Everyone is entitled to an opinion, but in this place, emotions can tend to run high so how you voice your opinion is important. The internet is a harsh place, but everyone can do a part in making it just a little better. :-\

He's only fueling the fire by responding in the same way they do. He's the one that's trying to promote a mod, not the people that are insulting him. If he can't take the heat from the public then he shouldn't be trying to hold a PR position. Especially when it's not his job on the team.
