I recently got the internet back about two months ago. When I got it back I got on renegade, got renguard, and everything like that. It worked for a month, and as of late, its been very gay. I cant even log onto westwood anymore, and ive tried two accounts. I dont know if its RenGuard, or if its Renegade itself, or if its my comp, but please help. Should I reinstall EVERYTHING? Please help.

Peace

well try to run renegade without renguard, go into your renegade directory and run game2.exe see if that gets you into wol, also when you say you can't log into Westwood do you get an error? and what kind, and I mean exactly what kind. Do you have a fire wall? are you sure it's not preventing renegade from going on line? Does this happen all the time? or sometimes only?

It says it times out. And after a few trys, it says something about like my CD-KEY being invalid. I dont have a firewall, and this has been occuring for about a month. Two months ago everything worked fine, but as of late, its been doing this. I will try to run without renguard, but I bet that dosnt work as well.
