Here is mine, it has had to change a little since I am only just getting back in to the whole firstperson shooter style of game. in reality these are all my no1's... the games I love and can find no real fault with. There are more then 10... sorry.

joint 1: Deus ex/american mgees alice pc/turok 2 seeds of evil n64 and pc-the best fps ever made.

2: Halo xbox (I just can't gettired of this game)

3: Blast corps n64 (this would have been 1 but i have not played it in over 16 months - the damd n64 joypads blew up. someone please tell me where I can find an n64 and roms.)

4: Jetforce gemini n64 (same as blastcorps but its been even longer.I can not find a fault with this game and so it has to go on the list.)

5: Body harvest - a n64 game with terrible graphics. But I played it threw 16 or more times in a row. If I could I would get a MOD team (one that doesn't talk big and then wuss out) for source. I still don't know why I love this game. by all rights I should hate it for being bad.

6:Golden eye n64

7:perfect dark n64

8:Renegade. This was the first first person shooter I ever played on the pc, the first game I ever played on line, and it was also the last game I played online - since my hands can no longer keep up with every one else.

9:Mario 64/legend of zelda/majoras mask/

10:Mech warrior 4

I don't attempt to write or speak in languages that I don't have good enough knowledge of. Whether or not I speak well in other languages has no bearing on teaching him how to write in this language.

For real man....piss the fuck off. Unlike you the rest of us understand that he may not use proper English. Also, unlike you, the rest of us have the ability to use context clues.

For the cock-knocker that you are...

Definition: a method by which the meanings of unknown words may be obtained by examining the parts of a sentence surrounding the word for definition/explanation clues, restatement/synonym clues, contrast/antonym clues, and inference/general context clues

I uninstalled call of duty because of several multiplayer flaws; for a few, the m1a1 carbine has went unfixed for five patches and running (I e-mailed them twice) and run-and-gunners using the russian ppsh or american thompson seem to evade hit detection half of the time when there is little server lag.

I would rate perfect dark as top game alongside goldeneye, because goldeneye's missions were more original but perfect dark had a waaaaaay better multiplayer. Although I love that multiplayer map called library in golden, aye..

I was taking a look at the old CS the other day. I almost died laughing from seeing the poor graphics.
It also didn't render the HUD when playing with D3D.

I would love to see a remake of Perfect Dark for PC. With all the maps and a extensive multiplayer, it would own
