

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 02:51:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

http://www.xfire.com/xf/modules.php?name=XFire&file=cmspage&body=xf\_lawsuit

It seems that Yahoo has decided to sue Xfire for supposedly infringing on their patent. Since Xfire says that they aren't, and have counter-sued Yahoo.

Direct link to the petition again Yahoo: <http://www.petitiononline.com/Xfire/petition.html>

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by z310 on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 03:12:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I don't believe they have counter sued them yet, or the article I read (Before you posted) was outdated.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by IRON FART on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 03:12:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Not only that, but they have bought out ASE (All Seeing Eye server browser) which is an alternative to GSA. The ASE website has been completely redesigned.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 03:37:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

z310 I don't believe they have counter sued them yet, or the article I read (Before you posted) was outdated.

Garrett, if you read the article, it says right there that today they counter-sued Yahoo.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by IRON FART on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 04:02:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There's obviously a lot of support for Xfire. That online petition had only about 1900 people an hour and a half ago. Now there is over 2700.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by xptek on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 04:15:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

It's because Yahoo! sucks.

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by Majiin Vegeta on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 04:20:16 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

anyway to make a quick buck

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by z310 on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 05:04:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

j_ball430z310I don't believe they have counter sued them yet, or the article I read (Before you posted) was outdated.

Garrett, if you read the article, it says right there that today they counter-sued Yahoo.

Quote:XFIRE™ FILES COUNTERSUIT AGAINST YAHOO

They filed it.

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by Jaspah on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 21:08:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yahoo! sucks anyway, they are just looking for a way to make themselves the best search engine.

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by Oblivion165 on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 21:14:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

j4S[p]Yahoo! sucks anyway, they are just looking for a way to make themselves the best search engine.

They are the best.

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

---

Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 21:19:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Google > *

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by Dave Mason on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 21:50:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yahoo are just trying to find a way of making more money for their already lined pockets.

Ignorant fucks.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by flyingfox on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 21:59:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Quote:Yahoo! vs. XFire

Yahoo versus.....jesus, who cares.....

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by xptek on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 22:45:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

It would seem to me that if you didn't care, you wouldn't open the topic in the first place.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 23:07:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

flyingfoxQuote:Yahoo! vs. XFire

Yahoo versus.....jesus, who cares.....

You're an idiot. Maybe for the million Xfire users it does matter. Ever think of that? Of course not, your head's too far up your ass.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by WNxCABAL on Fri, 11 Mar 2005 23:12:25 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

j_ball430your head's too far up your ass.
I've heard that quote in a movie, but I can't remember the name of it lol

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by flyingfox on Sat, 12 Mar 2005 01:08:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

j_ball430

You're an idiot. Maybe for the million Xfire users it does matter. Ever think of that? Of course not, your head's too far up your ass.

from the Xfire download page:

Quote:A free tool. A small download. A simple installation.

A free tool. Nobody's paying the web-based Xfire organisation a penny. They are providing a free service for people who choose to use it -- and consume bandwidth on Xfire servers. in other words, they're leechers using a useless program that only benefits people who play games far too much.....just use MSN, your friends will probably be signed on there. And for all the people using the internet, a million users is nothing.

I have taken the time to look at those links you provided though, this one in particular:

http://www.xfire.com/xf/modules.php?name=XFire&file=cmspage&body=xf\_lawsuit

basically they're telling you to moan on the petition and moan to yahoo! services. Boy I sure would love to be an yahoo! customer service agent who had nothing to do with the lawsuit.

also, has anyone ever noticed that when some idiot makes a high profile petition that gets people nowhere, and it gets like six thousand signatures, they are all full of morons who write lots of bullshit that'll never be read by the target audience(yahoo in this case)? I mean if the internet is good for one thing, it's giving you an idea of just how many morons there are infesting the planet. it reminds me of that one petition to get blink182 not to break up, there were like 7.5 thousand signatures on it. :yell:

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by cheesesoda on Sat, 12 Mar 2005 02:02:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Oh yes, it's such a bad thing that people are willing to give someone a service that they don't have to pay for! :rolleyes:

You may not use it, fine, whatever I don't give a fuck. What does it matter to you if we want to support an instant messenger that we use? I didn't make you read this thread. Shit, the topic itself told you what this was about, and yet you still read it and decided that everybody's efforts to show

Yahoo their disgust for their actions are pointless.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by IRON FART on Sat, 12 Mar 2005 02:15:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I'd rather have a free server browser/in game messenger giving competition to Yahoo!, than to have Yahoo! dominate the industry and charging for their crap.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by Jaspah on Sat, 12 Mar 2005 02:38:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

flyingfoxj_ball430

You're an idiot. Maybe for the million Xfire users it does matter. Ever think of that? Of course not, your head's too far up your ass.

from the Xfire download page:

Quote:A free tool. A small download. A simple installation.

A free tool. Nobody's paying the web-based Xfire organisation a penny. They are providing a free service for people who choose to use it -- and consume bandwidth on Xfire servers. in other words, they're leechers using a useless program that only benefits people who play games far too much.....just use MSN, your friends will probably be signed on there. And for all the people using the internet, a million users is nothing.

I have taken the time to look at those links you provided though, this one in particular:

http://www.xfire.com/xf/modules.php?name=XFire&file=cmspage&body=xf\_lawsuit

basically they're telling you to moan on the petition and moan to yahoo! services. Boy I sure would love to be an yahoo! customer service agent who had nothing to do with the lawsuit.

also, has anyone ever noticed that when some idiot makes a high profile petition that gets people nowhere, and it gets like six thousand signatures, they are all full of morons who write lots of bullshit that'll never be read by the target audience(yahoo in this case)? I mean if the internet is good for one thing, it's giving you an idea of just how many morons there are infesting the planet. it reminds me of that one petition to get blink182 not to break up, there were like 7.5 thousand signatures on it. :yell:

You sir, are a idiot.

Xfire provides some very useful things such as the ability to join the exact server your friend is playing on, the server's players, name, and how many people are in that game currently. Plus probably my favorite feature, the ability to message people in-game.

Join a clan and you'll start seeing this program a lot more useful than Yahoo's shitty programs.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by tooncy on Sat, 12 Mar 2005 16:42:05 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Yes. Honestly, this is one of the most useful tools out there.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by glyde51 on Sat, 12 Mar 2005 16:55:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

flyingfoxj_ball430

You're an idiot. Maybe for the million Xfire users it does matter. Ever think of that? Of course not, your head's too far up your ass.

from the Xfire download page:

Quote:A free tool. A small download. A simple installation.

A free tool. Nobody's paying the web-based Xfire organisation a penny. They are providing a free service for people who choose to use it -- and consume bandwidth on Xfire servers. in other words, they're leechers using a useless program that only benefits people who play games far too much.....just use MSN, your friends will probably be signed on there. And for all the people using the internet, a million users is nothing.

I have taken the time to look at those links you provided though, this one in particular:

http://www.xfire.com/xf/modules.php?name=XFire&file=cmspage&body=xf\_lawsuit

basically they're telling you to moan on the petition and moan to yahoo! services. Boy I sure would love to be an yahoo! customer service agent who had nothing to do with the lawsuit.

also, has anyone ever noticed that when some idiot makes a high profile petition that gets people nowhere, and it gets like six thousand signatures, they are all full of morons who write lots of bullshit that'll never be read by the target audience(yahoo in this case)? I mean if the internet is good for one thing, it's giving you an idea of just how many morons there are infesting the planet. it reminds me of that one petition to get blink182 not to break up, there were like 7.5 thousand signatures on it. :yell:

^| see one

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by flyingfox on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 01:24:06 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

j4sp, or jasp, would you be in a clan that plays that many games that you need this program? I used to be in a call of duty clan( [xXx] )that also played unreal tournament 04, and even then it was shitty to try and get a game going in UT because people couldn't be arsed with 2 games as a clan. I think we even played 3 games at one point...

xfire is a silly program that you don't need unless you game too much. the only thing of any importance is the messaging people in games, but even then it's worthless. just message your damn friends on MSN and have them tell you what game they are in; not a problem if your friends don't lack discipline and check their MSN every now & then. lol do you even require that your friend is logged in to XFIRE for you to message them? all MSN has to do is add a function that lets the msn new message alert.wav be hearable while the target has a fullscreen 3D game running, and they have a program better than this one.

and wow a server browser, like we don't already have one that the others inherit their functionality from.

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 01:35:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

You're only bitching about xfire because you can. Are you paying for their servers? I didn't think so, so shut the fuck up. If they want to offer a service for gamers then let them. They and their users (ie. me) don't want to hear you bitch because you're too stubborn to use the service that they provide. It's not my problem you're an idiot, but I guess what they say is true, "ignorance is bliss."

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by flyingfox on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 01:55:55 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

<http://www.n00bstories.com/image.fetch.php?id=1279305657>

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by Jaspah on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 01:56:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

flyingfoxj4sp, or jasp, would you be in a clan that plays that many games that you need this program? I used to be in a call of duty clan( [xXx] )that also played unreal tournament 04, and even then it was shitty to try and get a game going in UT because people couldn't be arsed with 2 games as a clan. I think we even played 3 games at one point...

xfire is a silly program that you don't need unless you game too much. the only thing of any importance is the messaging people in games, but even then it's worthless. just message your damn friends on MSN and have them tell you what game they are in; not a problem if your friends don't lack discipline and check their MSN every now & then. lol do you even require that your friend is logged in to XFIRE for you to message them? all MSN has to do is add a function that lets the msn new message alert.wav be hearable while the target has a fullscreen 3D game running, and they have a program better than this one.

and wow a server browser, like we don't already have one that the others inherit their functionality from.

If you want to minimize your game, get the server's IP, message them... but may not work if they don't minimize too, then waste 2 minutes trying to maximize again, be my guest.

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 02:00:14 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

He can't think of a valid argument, so he puts me on his ignore list.

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by tooncy on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 02:09:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

flyingfoxhttp://www.n00bstories.com/image.fetch.php?id=1279305657

You're a dumbass. You really can't think of a valid argument can you?

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire
Posted by flyingfox on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 04:37:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I don't know what he responded with, the first time or the second.. so either he made a really kick ass argument, done a good job of insulting me, or both - i'm guessing the latter.

either way, he seems to put more emphasis on it being an argument, than what the argument is about. after about a thousand posts of this you kind of get the drift of what the person is like.... there's never any benefit in arguing with these people or getting to know them, because they suck cock and just plain like to insult you. why read his posts at all?? they're a waste of time, they reek of someone really bored or unemployed or something.

besides, my point was kind of made.....TWICE.... it's a pointless program and this is a pointless thread. the idiocy of many Xfire users is shown in that petition -- do you really think some e-mails and messages of a web page will stop them? sure, maybe if Yahoo were wimps.... in which case they wouldn't have filed a suit in the first place. just use your head...

---

---

Subject: OT: Yahoo! vs. XFire

Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 14 Mar 2005 04:44:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

flyingfuckI don't know what he responded with, the first time or the second.. so either he made a really kick ass argument, done a good job of insulting me, or both - i'm guessing the latter. He was right about that one. I did make a kick ass argument then insulted him. The rhetoric was just for fun, though.

flyingfuckeither way, he seems to put more emphasis on it being an argument, than what the argument is about. after about a thousand posts of this you kind of get the drift of what the person is like.... there's never any benefit in arguing with these people or getting to know them, because they suck cock and just plain like to insult you. why read his posts at all?? they're a waste of time, they reek of someone really bored or unemployed or something.

What's wrong with liking arguments? I don't go searching for them, they come to me, and with tons of idiots like him, they come in abundance.

If I remember correctly, I proved my point and then insulted him. It was sort of a killing two birds with one stone. It's much more fun that way.

flyingfuckbesides, my point was kind of made.....TWICE.... it's a pointless program and this is a pointless thread. the idiocy of many Xfire users is shown in that petition -- do you really think some e-mails and messages of a web page will stop them? sure, maybe if Yahoo were wimps.... in which case they wouldn't have filed a suit in the first place. just use your head...

I just love how his thoughts contradict numbers. If it was such a pointless program, over a million people wouldn't use it. You'd think that after the first few thousand it'd die out because it sucks, but apparently it can still suck and reach over 1 million users!

---