
Subject: Mem usage meeter

Posted by TheGunrun on Mon, 21 Mar 2005 22:06:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

does any one know of a sofeware prog that will place a memory usage meeter in my forgot what u call it bar on the bottem right of the screen. I dont want to keep ctrl+alt+delete'n to see how much mem im using up.

Subject: Mem usage meeter

Posted by Dan on Mon, 21 Mar 2005 22:54:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The two ones I know of are Cacheman XP, and FAST Defrag. I use the latter because of some reason I've forgotten now. Both are really good in my opinion, and both free up any unused RAM when you click on the icon. I'm too lazy to give you download locations as well. I'm sure a google search will show up some stuff.

Subject: Mem usage meeter

Posted by flyingfox on Mon, 21 Mar 2005 23:13:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

try accessories/system tools..

Subject: Mem usage meeter

Posted by genetix on Tue, 22 Mar 2005 00:28:29 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

if your worried about memory booster download an older program called RamBooster. It displays how much ram your using and it allows you to clean out your ram every so often. Makes it so you don't have to restart as often.

Subject: Mem usage meeter

Posted by GetSm0keD on Tue, 22 Mar 2005 05:53:53 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

i used to use an app called FreeRAM XP Pro or somthing along the lines of that..

it will give you either a % amount or an MB amount of how much RAM you're using

it will also "Free up RAM"

not really sure how it that works..
but it helped me back when i had 256mb of RAM
