I've got some info from people who have "tested" a renguard crack, but they said all it was was a picture of goatse, and it deleted their boot, and sys.ini, so you're fucked if you don't have Windows XP cd's... just want to inform the community of the virus...

No, they don't cheat... they were testing it to see if it worked, and if it did then they were going to report it...

That's like smuggling a bomb through customs, then telling them how terrorists can smuggle a bomb through customs and that they should increase security in that area.

Ok it's not quite the same severity but same point
