And usually you need to define the tools you will be using, then find the appropriate 'staff' who know how to use it.

No renegade engine can, but finding the coder to make it happen won't happen. Kane or w.e has moved to HL2 and Jon Will doesn't code for particular mods, sorry man, try a different engine.

lol that's so lame. You want to make a new game, but you don't even know where to start. the only thing you know how to do is ask for help?

The first thing you should be doing is making a damn storyline. All you have said is that you're making a MMORPG yet you don't even have any of it planned.

If you want people to join I highly suggest you get organized and find an engine to use first, then start asking if anyone wants to join.

If I joined and you were to change your mind then I'd probably quit, as well as anyone else would in that matter.

First off, how old are you lol? 6. Just want to make a game, but know nothing about doing it?

This topic is just funny. "I want to make a game, I need members, but I don't know what engine I'm using or map tools or anything in that matter"

You mean to say the Renegade engine can handle thousands of simultaneous players?

RPG.....for Renegade.....I thought drop down weapons were annoying enough because the game isn't really designed for it. Especially, since I've seen many RPG mods for games...all they do it totally screw up teamwork (everyone out for themselves). Reminds me when I tried to play UT2004.....

I'd personnally LOVE to see a Renegade RPG game.

I though it could only hold 127. That means hes gonna need a lot of servers. and each server isnt gonna be that interesting, everyone will be spread out. And no one could help you quest or whatever!!

I think the renegade engine can handle more than 127, but westwood limited renegade itself to 127 player servers because the engine does not perform well with more than that.

the ren engine is not much good for anything except...well...renegade really. and mods of renegade.
