As some may already know Terry Shiavo, the woman who spent 15 years in a bed suffering miserably, died today. The battle of her custody finally ended and her parents can start the healing process from their loss. Her husband is getting re-married and according to some stories he is a heartless person who wanted her to die. But who knows maybe all the publicity drove him insane.

May Terry Shiavo rest in peace.

Yay for the media perverting actual events.

- It is biologically impossible for Terri Schiavo to be suffering.
 - During the first two years Terri was in the hospital, the courts determined that he was extraordinary in caring for her.
 - If anyone's insane around here it's the Schindler family, who at one point declared Michael Schiavo a murderer.

 - Fake emotions for two years straight, providing an incredible amount of care for Terri? And it's not like he just stopped one day, either. There'd better be a damn good reason to disprove that.
 - Only in your eyes, not the eyes of something important that matters, such as the law.

Terri did not suffer. And she does not need a tribute. She was dead 15 years ago, it's just taken this long for her body to die. She was in a hospice; you don't come back from those places, you go there to end your days in comfort and with dignity (this isn't the issue though).

The only reason any one gives a shit is because the media blew up the story to epic proportions.

God only know how many people die in conditions far worse then hers. And no one gives a shit about those people. I doubt you will ever go to a hospice and help people threw that tough time. People who are fully aware what is happening. And are in pain.

I feel for the poor souls who have no one. Who are dying in old folks homes and in hospices around the country, completely forgotten. It's not nice to watch someone die, you see. very few of them have the care or attention that Terri had in her fifteen years of not knowing what planet she was on.

I doubt the news in any country, fox or otherwise, will do a story about that.

This is not about Terri, it was about a persons will, the right of guardian ship, and the right to choose ones end.

I need a drink.

As the old saying goes. One Last Time.

- Am I a biology major? No. Stop trying to make yourself seem smarter because I don't give two shits about the anatomy of a human being. I know the basics, and that's all I need to know in order to get through life. If I want to pursue science as a major, it'll be Chemistry anyways.

- It's not that hard to fake emotions. So he cared for her for years on end. Who knows he could have had some incentives to do it. There was probably something else from him to gain from it. I don't know what, I really don't care to know what.
- So not having the proper documenting showing that Terri would have wanted this is legal?

- So you're not disputing that Terri Schiavo cannot feel, hear, or see?
 - But do you have a reason to think Michael Schiavo is a bad person? His actions point to him being a good person. So are you assuming he's bad or not?

What ego? Didn't you forget "or lack thereof"? :rolleyes: I'd love to see where you came to that conclusion. You obviously didn't understand the reasoning behind that point, and I'm not even going to bother trying to explain it to you. It's clear as day.

SFE:

No, I'm not going to argue it because I don't have proof to say otherwise. I may believe that she did have feeling and could see, but until I have proof for it, I'm not going to assume I'm right.

From what I can see, my parents are being suckered into a deal that I don't see necessary, and they're wanting an approximate $25,000 from this whole ordeal. While I don't see those people necessarily as "bad", but I don't see their intentions being set correctly. I mean, I know for a fact that my dad's procedures of business do not require $25k in time and utilities for them to be fixed.

Same for Mr. Shiavo. I'm not denying that he loved her (or at least did some years before), but I don't think his heart was in the right place. I mean, he had a semi-living wife for 15 years, yet he still slept with another woman enough to get her pregnant with 2 kids. I honestly can't see sincerity in that man.

Lying in court isn't completely uncommon. If the story's water-tight then they can easily get away with it.

You do realise that the post came in one paragraph don't you? Do you even know how the word ego was intentioned, do you even know what that means?

Ok I can explain it to you if you need me too. The first two sentences are the intentions of the paragraph.

Your ego is showing. And so is your intelligence. In other words, your persona, your id, your online shield that protects the real you from the one sitting behind a desk. I am describing you describing your self.

You are not arguing, all you are doing is pissing on your opponent. This is starting opinion of you and my perception of your argument. I am not arguing my self but giving my opinion of your activity.

Instead, - Dildos - comes in to it. This is a simple addition to the above, this is me pointing at what was typed and lolling to my self.

You are a fool. this is the conclusion. Fool means many things. Jester for instance. A smart man would have cooled of and said 'yeah I said some stupid things,' and recovered.

You did not.

On their own they mean nothing. But put together they are sword that i can wield. And a shield in which I can defend.

I thought they still taught this at primary school. Like I said.
'Your ego is showing. And so is your intelligence.'

I don't feel the need to protect me from myself. I'm quite fine being myself both online and in real life. On the other hand, you seem quite amused with yourself, and I'd be careful if I were you because such infatuation could result in you raping yourself. :rolleyes:

I wasn't going to defend an opinion with evidence I don't have. It's just an opinion with no real basis to it. Sorry if me having an opinion frightens you, but I'll assure you there are many much worse than me that have their own as well. Yes, be afraid, be very afraid.

Oh no, I made a ridiculous point that was made to be viewed as such. I was saying that I don't care if they got 5 people to say one thing because I could get 10 people to say something absolutely ridiculous as such.

I don't admit mistakes I don't make, or at least fail to realize that they were made.

No, that's not true.

The reason they chose to take her feeding tube out instead of giving a lethal injection was so it wouldn't count as murder of any sort.

They stopped feeding her, so technically they didn't kill her. So if the autopsy determines if she had feeling or not, then it still wouldn't matter, because she wasn't killed by anyone, and like I said before, it wouldn't make a difference because she is already dead.

Ok. I'm off the bed after this. It's 2 in the morning here and I can barely keep my eyes open.

1 The dramallama is the corner stone of any forum. Without it there is no intelligent conversation.

2 J_ball - No hard feelings. (God I can't believe I just typed that.)

Yes I am very amused with my self. I have relatively little time left of this earth and I will be damned if I'm spending mopping around and getting all heated up. I could have defended that argument with the dramallama tied behind my back.

You should always value your opinion. It is part of you. But you should only express it to the point of your understanding, and intelligence getting angry won't help you. An old saying goes. 'It's better to keep your mouth closed and be thought a fool, than to open your mouth and remove all doubt.' So chill.'

Not every point is ridiculous. Insulting though is. And I am sorry for my previous posts, I didn't mean any harm by them. I do not think ill of any one for one or two off hand comments. When I am wrong I take it like a man. When I am ill informed I admit to it. Life is too short.

I have had way too much to drink. I am going to read this post tomorrow, and will cringe. Oh well.

There never were any hard feelings.

I'm opinionated. I'm not going to keep my mouth shut for the sake of not looking like a fool. The people on these forums have no bearing on my life, so I honestly don't give a fuck at what they think of me. Some agree with me on most (if not all) issues, while others will always disagree with me, and some may go about 50/50. Some think I'm an idiot, some don't. None of these people, whether or not they agree with me or think of me as an idiot, affect me in my actions, except for the ones that I am in contact with outside of these forums. That number is only about 10, so it's quite a small fraction.

That point was meant to be ridiculous, though. It wasn't meant to be an insult towards SFE at all in case anybody thought different.

That's like saying if you lock someone in your basement, and don't give them food or water for 13 days, then you did nothing wrong. I'm sure if the guy got out of your basement he would of got something to eat, just like if Terry got out of her bed I'm sure she would of gotten a bite to eat. But he was locked in your basement, and she was quadrapalegic.

It's still murder, the only difference in this case is it was ordered by a court.

If that happened to you, I don't think you would be able to like it or not; assuming that she truly was PVS, and in PVS there is absolutely no unknown brain functions.

If something like that happened to me, I would definitely want my wife, kids and then parents to decide how to handle the situation. They would be the only ones with any credible information regarding previously discussed wishes.
