I use Yahoo! mail for basically my junk mail. Whenever it's required for me to sign up for some kind of spam thing.

I don't recieve any junk mail AT ALL on my Yahoo account.

My hotmail account is a whole 'nother story. But my Yahoo account has been very reliable since i opened it like 6 or 7 years ago. Granted, some junk gets through once in a while, but I haven't seen any recently for a LONG time. In the beginning I got them daily, bit it died down.

My hotmail account gets 10+ spam messages a day. I only use it for sites that I don't really want to sign up for or shoddy sites. With good reason too. That helps keep my other accounts free of spam that I don't want, and tons of emails with attatchments are sent to that account in stead of my Yahoo and Gmail accounts.

Mine's fine.

I've been using the address for well over a year.

You must have given out your address to the wrong company, or maybe you just got unlucky.
