Yes its possible, but not trough EA.
I already had the idea of doing that, and I will do that (but dont know when)

Is it possible to create an offsite Clan page so that the community has control over it. (That page will query the WOL servers to create or modify clans.)

Why via host file ?
Look into the registry, all the stuff can be changed there.

you'd need to hex edit the exe, but the hard part would be actually making the portal

you can do that, but as soon as the page loads, Renegade denies access and cuts you off immediatly.
It will only allow the renchat addresses

Yes I know, and there is a simple way to "fake" it.
Just put <!-- Certified Westwood Studios --> into the html code of the page and it will work
