This is just a heads up. If you haven't heard already. The FDS serial number server has been down.

I was originally hoping it was a quick fix. Unfortunately it does not appear to be so. We are still looking into it. I apologize for any inconvenience. I hope this won't be too much of an inconvenience.

If you could fix that - or replenish it with another thousand serials or so - it would be great.

On the page where you access the serial requests thing, if you could see if an image verification feature could be added to make sure all the serials don't get taken up again, it would be great.

Thank you Richard

Thank you for the replies.

Theplague: I don't know how many old timers are left exactly. A few came to San Francisco, others went to EA LA.

Confuzor: Unfortunately the clan page will remain as is. It's a simple matter of manpower and resources. I do not have information as to when or if that issue of clans will be addressed. But I don't want to lead you on. I believe they are using what they have to focus on upcoming releases.

Iron: From what I understand its an issue of Java code. Not positive though. They will be looking into this further. It's been a while and usually these are quick fixes. I've emailed the team and hopefully will be hearing back from them soon.

Until then, thank you for your patience.

Im gonna look at the clan pages some time, but if its what i think it is, its just the images are pointing to a wrong place and needs replacing. For the renegade menu in the part on the site, the links dont appear because the text file and config isnt point to the right place.

Anyone got the link to the page?

You are wrong, the problem has nothing to do with the images.
It's the EA server which does not send the page.

The images have been messed up for some time.. but that didn't bother me. The major problem is the clan pages not loading, I get the 'Page failed to load' pop up everytime
