Looks alright, the only real problem I see with the model is that the trigger is completely above the grip.

It would kick ass if the power indicator went down with the ammo.

Other than that, the model and texture is fairly hawt.

I can animate that power meter to fluctuate. That's about it.

I'd say the best part is the scope, but it would be weird if u were walking with it and it stayed the same picture :\

that's why it's a random pic, with noise added. We aren't on farcry, we need to deal with it.

I agree.
Good work with Reborn, I hope you'll be able to complete it. I'm sure I'll play it when you'll release it.

Well, the only two real problems I have with this gun are:

A) What Sir_Phoenix mentioned earlier. I think you should probably re-do that section of the model or risk having some very weird hand positions on characters in-game.

B) The darker metallic texture seems a bit off to me, but that's more of a subjective detail than anything else.

I must say, well done. How are you managing to get so many updates out the door so quickly?

I really work that fast. As I told : 6 hours to make the texture.
