
Subject: Fire.

Posted by z310 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:33:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

0

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:33:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

This topic might be locked. Also, did this happen to you, or someone else?

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by glyde51 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:35:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Only your kitchen?

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:36:55 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

glyde51 wrote on Sun, 05 June 2005 19:35 Only your kitchen?

You make that sound like a bad thing, glyde.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:38:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Looks around.* Uhh, no, that isnt a bad thing. Yeah, no...

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by cowmisfit on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:43:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Lijitsu wrote on Sun, 05 June 2005 20:33 This topic might be locked. Also, did this happen to you, or someone else?

sigh the newest spammer from hell.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:45:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Not a spammer, but hell i have been to. Damn its cold down there. I actually didnt spam. I wasnt going to say anything about the topic being locked, but i did remember that sometimes things are locked for being off-forum. So i just posted that as a sort of warning. An odd warning, too, isnt it? I do still want to know if that happened to Z310, or a friend of his.

()Holy hell, Cow, thats an awesome Signature image...()

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by cheesesoda on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:47:33 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Zach, lay off of him.

Lujitsu, this is the General Discussion forum. Most topics don't involve Renegade anymore since a small percentage actually play it. The fire also happened to Garrett (z310). He went to make french fries, decided against it, and forgot to turn off the oil.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 00:51:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ah ok. Hell, the forgetfulness thing happens to everyone. Especially me, unfortunately. Ive blown up a Microwave before by forgetting that metal doesnt go into it. It was Tin Foil, thank god, and not like a fork or anything. Its unfortunate that EA doesnt do anything about Renegade, since im sure that if they made "Renegade: Reborn" it would attract alot of people. Not as many as World of Warcraft, mind you, because on the very FIRST day it hit shelves, it sold over 1 billion copies.

Begins rant about World of Warcraft, and Blizzard.

()Forgot to Spell-Check it.()

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Kanezor on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 01:06:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Over a billion on the first day it hit shelves? Doubtful.

<http://www.blizzard.com/press/041201.shtml>

Quote:IRVINE, Calif. - December 1, 2004 - Blizzard Entertainment® today confirmed that World of Warcraft® has broken day-one sales records in North America, making it the most successful PC game launch ever. World of Warcraft, the company's subscription-based massively multiplayer online role-playing game (MMORPG), sold through to over 240,000 customers at retailers in North America on Tuesday, November 23, selling more in its first 24 hours than any other PC game in history.*

In addition to shattering sales records, World of Warcraft also broke peak concurrency and account creation records for a MMORPG. Within the first day, over 200,000 players created World of Warcraft accounts. By 5:00 p.m. PST, over 100,000 were playing the game concurrently. These two record-breaking numbers made World of Warcraft the fastest-growing MMORPG in history. Within a single day, all original 40+ World of Warcraft servers were filled to capacity, and by the end of the Thanksgiving weekend, more than 40 additional servers were deployed to meet the rapidly growing player base, as the number of new accounts and concurrent users continued to grow.

With those numbers, I wouldn't be surprised if it hit over 1 million copies in the first day.

Subject: Re: Fire.
Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 01:10:19 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I love Blizzard so much, and i havent read that in so long, that, i messed up the count. One letter, many people.

Subject: Re: Fire.
Posted by z310 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 01:31:33 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

0

Subject: Re: Fire.
Posted by glyde51 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 01:36:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

j_ball430 wrote on Sun, 05 June 2005 20:36glyde51 wrote on Sun, 05 June 2005 19:35Only your kitchen?

You make that sound like a bad thing, glyde.

I meant that in a good way.

z310 knows I wouldn't want anything bad to happen to him, he's my hero

Subject: Re: Fire.
Posted by cowmisfit on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 01:40:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

z310 wrote on Sun, 05 June 2005 21:01My bad memory kills me.

Garret, did your mom beat the hell out of you or what? I know if I did something like that I'd get the shit kicked out of me.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by z310 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 02:46:32 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

0

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 02:49:31 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Quote:I've blown up a Microwave before by forgetting that metal doesnt go into it. It was Tin Foil, thank god, and not like a fork or anything.

Lol. Putting a metallic object in a microwave wouldn't do jack shit in it, besides some small electrical sparking/arking across metallic parts that are close enough together, like balled up/wrinkled tin foil. Unless you pour enough black powder on tin foil or something, there's no way it would cause a microwave to explode.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by z310 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 04:24:04 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've seen a demonstration when they tried to blow it up with metal, didn't blow up.

Well my grandfather, owner of the house, has homeowners insurance so the kitchen is covered. As for our products that were destroyed, were screwed.

And right now, the dryer doesn't work! Yay.

And to top all of it off, we have no food till thursday, nor money to buy any.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 05:26:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

OLD Microwave. This thing was easily two foot, eight inches wide, and a foot and a half tall. It wasnt digital, either, to get set the time, you had to turn a dial. Not only that, but you had to set it to something over 30 seconds, then bring it back down to the time you wanted if you wanted below thirty seconds. And it was a Pot Pie, if that helps at all. Should have seen my mom. Hell, fuck that, my dad. Dear lord i couldnt sit down for a week after that.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by cowmisfit on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 10:20:52 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

<http://www.ushistory.org/lovepark/index.htm>

<http://americawildinthestreets.com/>

Thanks for the comments on my sig. I've gotten a lot of good feedback from it. Above links should tell you why I made it.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Sir Phoenixx on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 11:07:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Lijitsu wrote on Mon, 06 June 2005 01:26: OLD Microwave. This thing was easily two foot, eight inches wide, and a foot and a half tall. It wasn't digital, either, to get set the time, you had to turn a dial. Not only that, but you had to set it to something over 30 seconds, then bring it back down to the time you wanted if you wanted below thirty seconds. And it was a Pot Pie, if that helps at all. Should have seen my mom. Hell, fuck that, my dad. Dear lord i couldnt sit down for a week after that.

Old, new, digital controls or a dial, it doesn't matter, they've always used the same kind of technology for the heating parts/magnetron/etc.

Simply putting metal in a microwave will not cause it to explode, the only thing it could do is cause a fire if it's attached to something flammable like paper and is heated enough.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Majiin Vegeta on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 12:31:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

put christmas lights in a microwave its very pretty!

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 20:50:10 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sir Phoenixx wrote on Mon, 06 June 2005 06:07: Old, new, digital controls or a dial, it doesn't matter, they've always used the same kind of technology for the heating parts/magnetron/etc.

Simply putting metal in a microwave will not cause it to explode, the only thing it could do is cause a fire if it's attached to something flammable like paper and is heated enough.

I meant that in a relative sense. What i meant, was that i basically killed it. Alot.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by z310 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 22:51:25 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

0

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by Lijitsu on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 22:58:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Wow. Good for you, eh? Wish i had that much money... Or atleast $300 for an Xbox and some games.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by prox on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 23:21:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

z310 wrote on Mon, 06 June 2005 18:51The insurance company is actually paying us $104,000 because of those damages alone. Wow?

I'm gonna go make some French Fries.

Subject: Re: Fire.

Posted by z310 on Mon, 06 Jun 2005 23:35:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

0
