Very neat. I like it better than the GDI Pistol, though that light on the top isnt to good. It would be impossible to hide in shadows with that thing.

I liked the old one better. Except for that laser sight.

Very nice.

Although I would remove the light if there's going to be no laser sight function on this pistol.

I don't know whether that's based on any real-life or TS-inspired pistol, but in any case, it's pretty fugly. The model and texture appear to be fairly well made, but the gun is just not very attractive. It looks kind of like something you'd see in Startrek or some bad scifi.

It's 'based' on the pistol Kane has in one custscene, but misshapen and warped and poorly realized in W3d apparently.

PERFECTIONIST!!11!!1!!!!

Looks good, but move on, models and textures for weapons can be replaced later (a lot easier than buildings and level design for obvious reasons).

Star Trek isn't bad science fiction. It's actually a lot more in-depth than Star Wars and many other series, and has a lot more longevity than most will ever dream of.

The artwork assets can be made proper right now, instead of half-assing them with that excuse. Might as well just use boxes with teapots for bullets if you want to get it done right now, since you can always replace it later!

I'd rather drink Bleach than watch star trek.

Last time I scrolled up and saw the picture of the weapon, it wasn't boxes with teapots, so stfu and go to BF2.
