Make sure your firewall is not preventing renguard from connecting to its master servers.

EDIT* This should also of been posted in Renguard Client.

sometimes windows firewall (windows xp) turns itself back on after an update or something, make sure its turned off (its useless anyway, only blocks programs you dont want blocked...)

Can't someone just send him a virus and fry/erase his harddrive? Anybody know their server/hosting information? Could always brute force that and delete any traces of his cheats/hacks. Obviously this crosses the lines of legality, but it's morally satisfying.

Immoral, but I don't see how it's illegal.

The hostname/noname exploit is illegal, it's ban evasion and ban evasion is technically trespassing.

it may be against every law and illegal as robbing a bank, but good luck getting the police to go to his house and arrest him because OMG, HE WENT ON MY INTERNET SITE AND I TOLD HIM NOT TO
