You can hide on WOL. It means no one can see you or page you, but you can't block individual users.

Are you quite sure?

Log in to WOL.

Move your mouse all the way to the left, a panel will appear. Click on "Buddies".

Move your mouse all the way to the left again, and click on "Ignore List".

Click "Add"

Type in the name of the user(s) you wish to ignore.

Click "Back"

To go back to the game listings, move your mouse all the way to the left and select "Advanced Game Listings"

Does that not work for you, Renx?

I don't think that ignore will stop the flood. Because they can still make new nicks to flood you.

You can get the nick that is spamming you, by going ingame (host a 1p game), then when you get invitation declined. Type /r x (doesnt matter what you reply with, but /r x is faster than /r THISISATEST)

You should see the nick that floods you now. But it's probably not a nick that's used for playoing normally. Anyone can quickly make a nick these days...
