When you shut down your computer when FDS is running, When you start your computer back up FDS will automaticly start up and the explorer wont start until you close FDS. Its no problem i'm just wondering why it does that?

possible solution for that;

Delete ren fds from the startup list in windows (if you dont know how to do this ask! dont start messing around in the registry and such if you dont know what your doing)

Copy the FDS shortcut into the Startup folder on the start menu

This should make the FDS load AFTER windows has finished with explorer etc, instead of before, not tried it though.

Pfff never looked into the cfg.file of fds...

Because it asks if you want = AUTO Restart
just set it to off, but not recommened for server owners.

the reason why this is, because when a server crashes it will restart since it's always on anyways it will auto reconnect.

Yes, but like u said, if u disable it, the FDS does not restart when it crashes.

Be sure to type "quit" in before you close it, or it will keep opening.

After clicking X for 5 times it won't start again. But I don't know nothing about any risks of that method.
