Renguard started going crazy on me today. Went into a modded server and it was working fine for about 10 minutes, then it suddenly crashed and renguard gave the lan exploit error. I ignored it since I know other people were having that problem and rejoined and it instantly crashed again and gave the same error. So I tried another server and it crashed instantly but with a different error saying something about me not being allowed to play with cheats installed. Then finally on the forth attempt it worked fine and continued to work fine.

Just wondering if whatever happened will result in a ban? or is it just a false alarm?

First time renguard has ever done this for me. (This is not a shared computer either).

Thanks in advance.

No ban. Nobody is banned from RG for having cheats detected, only for using RG bypasses. To be honest Im not sure what caused your problems without being able to witness them firsthand. The upcoming new release of RG should fix all of these issues.
