I was having a discussion with some of the other server owners, and we decided I should weed out the list of people with access to that forum. So, if you are one who lurks and never posts, I may have deleted you. In fact, I may have deleted you even if you DO occassionally post.

So, if that's the case, please PM me and let me know what server you admin and I'll put you back on. We're just trying to weed out the unsavory types who don't need in there.

What part of PM did you not understand? Was it the P or the M? P is for Private and M is for Messaging. If you can't even figure that out you don't deserve access.

Crimmy, correct me if I'm wrong, but:

You'll need to provide more information as well ... such as what servers you own/run and your interest in this forum.
