Any of u read the FD rewiev on Planet C&C? it is just outrageous and reminds me to H8 companys like EA even more. It is a real hit in the face to the C&C community and it's proud and truly missed Westwood Studios. They totally sucked out what was left of Westwood's pride and used this as an excuse to launch yet another money making project. People like this should be learn a lesson, (this will be the most amusing ever)but unfortunatly people like this don't learn untill they are in seriues trouble.

Fuck, fuck, fuck, fuck, fuck fuck fuck fuck.

And I was about to buy it. God damn. How badly can EA fuck up?!?!

And why didn't they include Sole Survivor? That's the one game I actually don't have (if you don't count Zero Hour, TD:CO and RA:CS, but those don't look like they're worth it).

I bought the compilation before that, the C&C Collection or something. It was a lot better, since they gave you all the original individual discs...

Indeed. Capitalisme sucks. Back here in belgium whe also have a company that is deploying somewhat the same tactics: Take over as many brewers as u can, decrees the products quality by adding water for profit and fire 2/3 of the staff. Did I mention they are bankers, yes I'm talking about the Brazilian undertaking called Inbev. Anyway it's sad to see the world is still in the grip of capitalism. America is the biggest "victim?". My point, Earn money to live, not live to earn money.

I know this will NEVER EVER happen, but it would be VERY interesting to see someone who works for EA to comment on that.
