Who Thinks A 3rd World War Is Going To Erupt In Our Life Time?

And if it does, we are all probably going to fight wether we like it or not.

No way for a full out world war to ever happen at this point, there are not enough countries that able to make a noticeable contribution. Plus you would only have one side and the other would be composed of one country.

Trust me, when there is a cause, and there is just something didn't trigger it to explode, there will be blood. And all you need is a cause and guns, which many nations are eager to sell. Something like the destruction of the Mosque in Jerusalem just might trigger a war, an all out war.

As long as you are posting stuff like this:

voanews.com Iran also harbors, trains, and supports many of the same terrorist groups as Syria. In addition, Iran provides substantial financial and military aid to Hezbollah, which has engaged in terrorism against Israelis, Lebanese, Americans, French, and Argentines, among others. Because of Syria and Iran's support for such terrorist groups, the U.S. has long designated both countries as state sponsors of terrorism.[/quote]

You should stop posting here and learn how to look up info from more than 1 bias source before you take it to heart. Hezbollah committing terrorism against Lebanese? Imfao.

During the Hezbollah Israeli conflict there were many reports that Hezbollah were killing Lebanese to occupy the area to fight the Israelis. How am I supposed to know that you don't support Hezbollah since you seem to be so biased and protective of them.

Any group that targets civilians as a matter of policy deserves no respect whatsoever, regardless of whatever else they might do. Hezbollah and anyone who supports them can go straight to hell on the tip of a missile.

Hezbollah kicked Isreal out of Lebanon in the war. Hezbollah is the only thing keeping Isreal out of small middle eastern countries like Lebanon etc...

I find it funny how you believe your propoganda that Hezbollah are the ones targeting civilians etc...

Hezbollah is nothing but a group of rebels from many middle eastern country who keep Isreal from occupying small middle eastern countries. If you're called a terrorist when you defend your land i don't know what this world is coming to

The Jews are some of the most persecuted people in human history, so when it comes down to it people are more likely to believe them instead of people who are somehow unable to respect the desire of another group who wishes to live in their ancestral land and as a result have constantly employed violence to "drive them out." I can't think of an instance in 20 years that Israel has attempted an invasion of its neighbors (but clearly since you are more informed than we, you can provide us with some.) As I recall, Israel completely withdrew from Lebanon in 2002. So who, then, is Hezbollah defending Lebanon from? Or are they deliberately attacking outside their borders?

And for your information, they speak Hebrew.

Isreal is still occupying the "Shebaa Farms border area". They did not completely withdraw and if it wasnt for Hezbollah Lebanon would be part of Isreal.

I am Lebanese and have lived in Lebanon for 16 years of my life. I know more about this subject then you will ever know so don't even try to argue about it.

Oh and to get back on topic. Isreal has attempted to invade Lebanon and is continuously attacking palestine (i won't get into the palestine/isreal conflict since i am not very knowledgable about it).

Like i said before i am lebanese and have lived there. If Airstrikes and occupation of Lebanese territory isn't enough to prove Isreal trying to "invade" it's neighbours then you sir are an idiot.

The reason i mocked Darkdemin's quote was because it was untrue and nothing but a lie. If Hezbollah really committed terrorism against Lebanon do you think we would shut up about it? Hezbollah helped kick Isreal out of the country and helped us fight for our freedom, we want them there. Don't believe any of the American bs they feed you through CNN.

Remember the Syrian occupation? They are now out because we don't want them there. Like i said before Hezbollah aren't terrorist and the only reason they attack Isreal is because THEY ARE STILL OCCUPYING OUR "Shebaa Farms border area".

Seriously, when an outside country invades your land are you not going to try and kick them out? If Hezbollah does not attack Isreali forces who are occupying our land who is to stop them from occupying more and more because nobody is doing a single thing about it?

Stop being spoonfed that bs image about Hezbollah from the American media. They are the reason Lebanon is not known as Isreal today.

(from wikipedia)Hezbollah has been labeled a terrorist organization by the United States [2] the United Kingdom [3], the Netherlands[4], Canada [5][6], Israel and Australia [7]

So I guess its more then CNN saying they're terrorists...

They're terrorists for kicking Israel out of Lebanon (even though they occupy a small region and desperately try to conquer more of Lebanon's region).

Like I said before, if Hezbollah is considered a terrorist (for helping keep Lebanon's independence) then what does that make of Israel for constantly trying to conquer neighboring countries?

When darkdemin quoted that piece of information saying how Hezbollah commits terrorist activities against Lebanon I was thinking WTF?

Hezbollah helps keep the Israeli occupation to a low and helps us keep our freedom and rights.

Whiskey you are Canadian so the only analogy I can give you of this is your "remembrance day". You say these Canadian soldiers fought for your freedom. What would you say if some random Arab country said the same people who fought for your freedom were terrorists?

The same situation applies here. Hezbollah helps fight for our freedom against Israel who tries desperately to conquer neighboring countries such as Lebanon; America and lots of other countries label them as "terrorists". Why? Because they keep Lebanon independent? Because they kept Lebanon from becoming Israel on the map?

btw Wikipedia isn't a very reliable source for anything.

This thread is kind of going off topic anyways. The point of this was to mock Darkdemin's quote of saying Hezbollah commits terrorist activities against Lebanon which I already proved was wrong.

Everyone is entitled to their opinion. If you think they are terrorists I seriously couldn't care. Most people who say they are terrorists just say that because Bush said so etc...

We all know that you can't believe everything any political leader says and Bush is no exception. I've met some people from Hezbollah before, I've seen them before, I've formed my own conclusion about them and I am not afraid to say I owe my independence to them and that is why I respect them.

My dad used to be in the army and has told me stories about Israeli army (they actually occupied some villages when the war was at its worst) and he has some pretty horrific stories about them.

Lot's of people who comment on these subjects have never seen a gun before, never seen a tank, or even artillery. I have and I have my own opinion about Hezbollah and Israel through personal experience.

Like i said again this thread is going off topic. If you hate Hezbollah or like them it's totally up to you. The point of my initial post was replying to the comment of Hezbollah committing terrorist activities against Lebanon. When i read it i was like wtf.

I am sure that Israel is not an aggressive nation, the Jewish religion is agianst violence and so forth, I would know I am Jewish, I am sure that Israel is interested in the area because of the FARMS, and the fact that everybody aroud her wants her dead So occupying land decreases the range of an RPG making the firer fire it from a farther distance. (Israel, do the call it a He or a She) Israel IS having trouble with money as it is, so looking throught their eyes, going to a nighbors farm and staying there for a while just might get you some fruit for export. I think that if the farms are the issue more than the land an agreement HAS TO BE REACHED by both sides. I wonder what America would say about this.

I don't know much about the subject. What're you say about keeping Lebanon independent is fine, good motive. That does not justify terrorist attacks. Citizens should never be harmed intentionally, ever, even in retaliation. War should be armies fighting armies, not terrorists killing innocent people.

There has been a war every 10 years for as long.

It is a way for Governments to try and test new weapons on a real battlefield.

Get used to it, that is the way the Military of any country learn and modify new tactics.

In reply to the OP, no...I seriously doubt a third world war will happen in our lifetimes. However, when it comes to another international conflict...it's a matter of when, not if. It seems to be as inevitable as death itself IMO.

As a side note some people think we're in world war 3 already...? I don't get this...I would like it if someone who shares this sentiment could clarify exactly where, why and how this "third world war" is taking place.

Yes they did...one of my friend in elementary school's family came from Lebanon and his 2 oldest brothers were shot because they didn't want to join Hezbollah.

I'm not defending Israel, tho...they've pulled a lot of shit in the middle east and were the ones doing the terror when they first got there. Hezbollah is basically Lebanon's IRA...and just like the IRA, they terrorize the people of their own heritage that won't join/support them.

Halo, just because they're not a global terrorist organization doesn't mean they don't use terror.
