Ok...

So I finally got vsmon.exe deleted YEAY!!

so i want to install norton antivirus so I uninstall the 30 day trial I had of some kevisky(SP) anti virus thing...

i reatart the computer like it tells me to.

it says "ntldr is missing.
press control+alt+del to restart"
but that dose nothing...

So now i am on my moms computer... how do I fix this?

if I put the file on a floppy copied frome my moms computer will that fix it?

EDIT:Looked it up I can fix it that way but my mom has win XP and my dads has 2000...

CAN SOMBODY WIN WINDOWS 2000 PLEASE UPLOAD THE FILES.

-NTLDR
-ntdetect.com

See says it here

"If your computer is using Microsoft Windows 2000 and you are encountering the NTLDR error. Create the below boot.ini file on the floppy diskette drive.

[boot loader]
timeout=30
default=multi(0)disk(0)rdisk(0)partition(1)\WINNT [operating systems]
multi(0)disk(0)rdisk(0)partition(1)\WINNT="Microsoft Windows 2000 Professional" /fastdetect

Copy the NTLDR and NTDETECT.COM files from another computer using the same Operating System. Both of these files are located in the root directory of the primary hard disk drive. For example, C:\NTLDR and C:\NTDETECT.COM should be the locations of these files on many computers.

* Please keep in mind that these files are hidden system files, if you need additional help with viewing hidden files in Windows please see document CH000516.

Once these files have been copied to a floppy diskette reboot the computer and copy the NTLDR and NTDETECT.COM files to the root directory of the primary hard disk drive. Below is an example of what commonly should be performed from the A:\> drive.

copy ntldr c:
copy ntdetect.com c:

After the above two files have been copied, remove the floppy diskette and reboot the computer."
